

Christmas 2014

Dear Friends and Family,

Merry Christmas! Sarah (14) trained a squad of raccoons to help deliver our holiday cards this year. If yours is chewed up, we sincerely apologize. Alex (8) joined a pirate club at school and built a cardboard ship that's somehow still blocking traffic on Maple Street.

John decided to take up synchronized drone flying, which ended in chaos when his drones formed a mutiny and flew into the local frozen yogurt shop. Meanwhile, I accidentally made the evening news when I mistook a professional film set for a farmer's market and walked into the background carrying a watermelon.

Wishing you a year of raccoon-free deliveries!

Unapologetically chaotic,
The Smith Family
